encrese and decrese he maketh a man to be medable ned to dwell in oon place he maketh a man to hane his en hande by more thanno his othez his en fete more thanno his othez or any othez bymme

Of these planettes thore is a table to findre day day whanne any of hem yegneth and thurey cometh that the day be called / Thus day that is to say Jubet at the Sonno yegnet that came planet that day is cold / aftur yegnet and next aft / him next henge yegnetth maye / And the next henge aft / him yegnetth Sol. and aftur him yegnetth Sonno / and aftur him the next henge yegnetth maye / and aftur him the next that is the sixte nye yegnetth Luna / and aftur him the next nye yegnetth Saturnus / and aftur him yegnetth Jubet / and so enyche nye tyl pou comis to the nyge othe planet yegnetth

A grid of astrological symbols, likely the zodiac signs, arranged in a pattern across the page. The symbols are written in a historical script, possibly Arabic or a related language, and are organized into a grid of approximately 10 columns and 10 rows. The symbols include variations of 'Leo', 'Virgo', 'Libra', 'Scorpio', 'Sagittarius', 'Capricorn', 'Aquarius', 'Pisces', 'Aries', 'Taurus', and 'Gemini'. The arrangement suggests a specific astrological chart or a key for such a chart.
